

Adiguzel Named CERL Director

Dr. Ilker Adiguzel, Champaign, is the newly appointed director of the Construction Engineering Research Laboratory (CERL). Secretary of the Army Francis Harvey announced the selection in June. In this position, Adiguzel leads a staff of some 350 professionals who conduct a $90 million annual research program addressing environmental quality and infrastructure for military installations. Prior to being named director, he served as the lab's acting director, having been appointed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in June 2005. He had been CERL's deputy director since 2001.
